About the Award

The Karl Mason Award is presented to professionals who made a unique and creative contribution to the field of environmental management in Pennsylvania with preference given to the fields of administration, law, regulation and community organization. Each year the PAEP Board of Directors select an individual who demonstrates exemplary leadership in the field of environmental management to receive the Karl Mason Award.

Eric Buncher has been awarded the Karl Mason Award for his many years of outstanding leadership and service to the Pennsylvania Association of Environmental Professionals (PAEP). As a general member, board member, western section chair, and board president he advanced many initiatives which inspired environmental professionals to not only join the organization, but contribute substantial time and energy to accomplishing the PAEP mission and goals. He was never timid about asking members to volunteer and to take the lead in a task. He always generously gave his time and advice to fellow environmental professionals to help them find good jobs. Under his leadership, several important PAEP goals such as substantially increasing membership, conducting highly-valued section events and annual meetings, strongly supporting the Conservation Heritage Project, posting job opportunities, and awarding student scholarships were consistently met. Mr. Buncher possesses over 40 years of environmental studies, managerial and technical experience in economic development, site planning, and development feasibility studies with an emphasis on airport, office park, industrial park and mass transit applications. Since 2001 he served as Manager Planning Services for the Allegheny County Airport Authority where he is responsible for site planning and environmental studies at both Pittsburgh International Airport and Allegheny County Airport. Mr. Buncher is a member of the Robert Morris University Economic Development Committee and the Moon Township Comprehensive Plan Implementation Committee. He is a member of the Board and Executive Committee of the Airport Corridor Transportation Association as well as past president (total of 5 years as President) of the Pennsylvania Association of Environmental Professionals.

Congratulations, Eric!
