Senior Environmental Professional

RK&K is a leading Mid-Atlantic civil engineering, planning, and environmental consulting firm with nearly 1,200 employees serving both public and private clients. Our Environmental Planning and Natural Resources groups are seeking a senior-level environmental professional to join one of our Pennsylvania offices (Harrisburg, York, Allentown, or King of Prussia). This is an excellent opportunity to be part of a growing environmental team within a well-established firm.

Candidates must be extremely motivated and committed to a consultant career track with project management responsibilities. The ideal candidate will have established agency/client relationships with Pennsylvania transportation agencies, business development capabilities, project management experience, and staff mentoring capabilities. A solid understanding of Federal and state agency regulation, policy, procedures, and guidance is required.

The role will include a mix of office time and field time for conducting resource assessments, report-writing, document review, client interaction, agency coordination, state and federal permitting, and collaboration with others. Minimum requirements include:

- Bachelor's degree in Environmental Science, environmental planning, or related field;
- Undergraduate/graduate curriculum that emphasizes natural resource, socioeconomic resource, cultural resource, environmental policy, environmental planning, or other closely related disciplines;
- Approximately 15 to 20 years relevant experience;
- Strong knowledge of environmental regulations such as NEPA, Section 106, Section 404, Section 4(f), Section 7, and Environmental Justice;
- Experienced in resource permitting and agency consultation/coordination;
- Exceptional research and problem solving abilities;
- Outstanding written and oral communication skills;
- Proven ability to work both independently and in a team environment;
- Fluency with Microsoft Office applications;
- Accomplished project management skills; and
- Focus on client satisfaction.

RK&K offers an attractive salary package commensurate with experience, and a comprehensive benefits package including 401(k), paid vacation and sick leave, company medical/dental/vision plans, and tuition reimbursement.
